

Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Health & Society Scholars

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Health & Society Scholars Program at the University of California, San Francisco and Berkeley, draws upon the strengths of two campuses. The UC-San Francisco side of the program, based in the Center for Health and Community, offers the resources of an outstanding health sciences campus, with top-ranked schools of Dentistry, Medicine, Nursing, and Pharmacy, as well as strong pre and post-doctoral programs. The UC-Berkeley side of the program, centered in the School of Public Health, utilizes the rich resources of a broad research-oriented arts and sciences campus
